Leo "Manny" Durant

"I was born March 16, 1939, to Bertha Neadeau and Leo Joseph Durant. I am the father of ten children. I worked in the logging industry for many years and for the Keweenaw Bay Indian Community for a few years. I transported people back and forth to appointments for ten years until I injured my back and was forced to retire. I enjoy singing, playing guitar, and mowing lawn."

Sandra Carlson (Bressette)

"I was born the 10th child of 14 to Serephine (Baraga) and Clifford (Bad River) Bressette. I have one daughter, Lisa, and two grandchildren: Cory and Hanna. In 2017, I was diagnosed with lung cancer. I am proud to say that I am now in remission.

I enjoy meeting Native Americans and dancing at powwows with my granddaughter Hanna. I have met a lot of really good people over the years. I enjoy doing beadwork, and making shawls, dresses, and moccasins. My favorite foods are fry bread and wild rice from Bad River. I also like banana bread. I have done Native American arts and craft bazaars for four years. I am a recovering alcoholic and have 40 years of sobriety. I started a woman's sobriety group in Marquette that ran for 13 years. I helped sponsor sobriety dances for six years in the 90's. Every day I am happy and peaceful in my daily way of life. I have entered the circle at Grand Entry many times as a traditional dancer. I went to NMU for Social Work and Substance Abuse Training. I also worked at NMU as a coordinator for the cultural programs in the Dean of Students' Office. I also tutored blind students in the late 90's. I did home health care for senior citizens for 19 years. I lived in

An Open House was held on August 15, 2019, 12 p.m., at the Keweenaw Bay Indian Community's new Halfway House Facility "Oshiki Maaji" located on Brewery Road, directly across from the Newday Treatment Facility.

Tribal Council Members joined Sarah Smith, CEO, and Jeanne Hirzel, Substance Abuse Coordinator, for the ribbon cutting ceremony. Drumming by Four Thunders Singers, a luncheon, and a tour of the facility followed.

Sarah Smith, CEO, provided the welcome for the Open House. "Aaniin and welcome to the Open House and Ribbon Cutting Ceremony for the Keweenaw Bay Indian Community's Halfway House project! The Halfway House concept or step-down program came from a need identified by the Community. It was recognized that there was an alarming number of opioid overdoses occurring within our Community. The need to address this issue was first identified from a Community Policing Training that was attended by representatives from the Youth, Housing, Police, and CEO's office. As part of a solution, the Community Policing Group decided it would be beneficial for those in recovery from substance abuse to have a safe place for reintegration into the Community after the completion of residential treatment. The halfway house will be run by the Keweenaw Bay Indian Community's Substance Abuse Programs and will have the capacity to home up to 12 Native American clients.

The building was designed by UPEA, Inc. and the construction bid was awarded to Grand River Community Development, LLC, an American Indian owned company. The Halfway House Project's total cost of construction was $817,110 and was funded through a grant provided by the Department of Housing and Urban Development Indian Community Development Block Grant or HUD ICDBG for $600,000, with the remaining funds coming from the Tribe.

The building has been named Oshki Maaji "New Beginning". Jeremy Voakes won the $200 award for the naming contest. The building was designed by UPEA, Inc. and constructed by Grand River Community Development, LLC. Many individuals need to be thanked for their work on this project, including the members of the Community Policing Group which include: the Chief of Police, Substance Abuse Programs Director, Housing Director, Housing staff, and our Grant Writer for writing this grant. A special thanks to the Council for providing support and funding of $217,110 for this project. Thank you to the many individuals who assisted with this event today including: Jeanne Hirzel, Marty Curtis, Sheila Royal, and the Public Works staff."

Jeanne Hirzel provided an introduction of the facility's purpose. "Oshiki Maaji is a Recovery Peer Supportive Living Program that incorporates clinical and traditional Tribal Healing practices to support the residents in their on-going holistic healing journey. It is a transition from a Residential Treatment Facility to support reintegration and independent living.

Oshki Maaji is part of the Keweenaw Bay Indian Community Substance Abuse Programs which also includes Newday Treatment Center, Cultural grounds, Outpatient/Intensive Outpatient Clinical services, and Recovery Housing. The KBIC-SAP Campus is close to health, educational, and other government services, but still remote enough to provide the ideal therapeutic setting. The facility will root in the rich culture and traditions of the Anishinaabeg. The facility is designed to promote self-sufficiency and reintegration by utilizing the Care Coordinator, Recovery Mentor, and programming that is centered around supportive and cultural services.

While residents are in the recovery house setting, they will participate in an individualized plan of care that includes Intensive Outpatient/Outpatient Clinic Services. Oshki Maaji is designed for residents to feel like they are in a homelike setting which allows them to be comfortable enough to focus on their underlying needs while moving towards being whole and independent.

This facility serves both male and female populations who suffer with mental health/substance abuse disorders. Oshki Maaji is a stepping stone where residents can receive on-going aftercare services while they reintegrate back into the community. Typical transitions may be from six months up to one year.

Transitional options such as independent life skills and job readiness/search will allow residents the opportunity to transition to the community successfully while continuing to access behavioral health services and community-based services as they continue to work on their independence.

Oshki Maaji is dedicated to promoting a healthy lifestyle for our residents by restoring balance and harmony in mind, body, and spirit."

PRESS RELEASE

STATEMENT REGARDING THE PROPOSED PURCHASE OF MARIJUANA GROW FACILITY

The Keweenaw Bay Indian Community's Tribal Council, after due consideration, has decided not to go forward with the purchase of the ELF Facility located in Humboldt County. The Council, in doing its due diligence, considered the pros and cons of the purchase, looked at numerous factors involved with the purchase, and determined that purchasing the facility was not the best decision for the Community at this time. "We thank Mr. Parker for working with the Community, and we wish him the best as both parties move forward," said KBIC President, Warren "Chris" Swartz, Jr.

The Community voted to approve the following referendum: Do you approve of an investment of 4 million dollars into the acquisition of a medical marijuana grow and dispensary business? The investment would come from the Elder's Trust Fund which would be paid back to keep it solvent. The investment would cover the acquisition of real estate to be used for a dispensary and grow facility, retaining political and legal representation, licensing fees, and all other associated costs.

This vote of the People grants broad authority for the Tribal Council to get into the marijuana industry. The Tribal Council is considering moving forward with a contingency plan of developing the Negaunee airport property. The development will include a marijuana grow operation, a marijuana processing facility that creates marijuana concentrates, and a dispensary that sells marijuana all at the same location. This contingency plan offers significant capital investment savings and other advantages over locating the business at the ELF facility. The Tribal Council intends to hold a Community Meeting soon for Tribal Members to discuss a potential investment at the former airport property and to seek feedback from Community members as to whether the Tribal Council should move forward with the investment.

Michigan Child Protection Registry

Are your children safe while online? Michigan families, especially minors, are becoming inundated with advertisements from alcohol, tobacco, pornography, illegal drug, and gambling marketers through different internet and cell phone inboxes. Texting their advertisements is the newest marketing effort that many of these companies are using. Thankfully, the Michigan Secretary of State's office offers a free program to stop adult advertisements from reaching your e-mail address and cell number via text. The Michigan Child Protection Registry is a free do-not-contact service for Michigan's families.

As a strong supporter of this Registry, I would like to encourage you to sign your entire family up for this program, and inform your friends and colleagues about how they can protect their children and families from unwanted adult advertising. To sign up only takes seconds. Just go to www.ProtectMiChild.com and keep your family safe.

KBOCC Is Conducting Free Well Water Testing

The KBOCC Environmental Science Department is conducting free home water testing for all Baraga County residents with wells. This free service is part of a USDA-funded research project aimed at determining arsenic concentration in our area's groundwater.

Arsenic is a naturally-occurring toxin that often exists in rocks and soil below ground. It can settle into the groundwater tapped by private wells, but residents wouldn't know it unless they have their water specifically tested for it. Arsenic is odorless, tasteless, and colorless. Long-term exposure, through drinking and cooking, can have serious health effects including many forms of cancer.

Baraga County is in a high-risk area for groundwater arsenic. The goals of our project are to alert residents of health risks, recommend treatment options, and provide the KBIC a valuable planning tool by modeling the movement of arsenic through our groundwater.

By law, city water systems are tested regularly for arsenic. Residents with wells, however, need to have their water tested on their own.

The testing process is very simple. A KBOCC researcher will visit your home to collect a water sample, which can be done from an outdoor faucet if your home has one. We'll ask a few general questions about household members and your home's water system. We will deliver the water sample to a lab for testing and will contact you to explain potential risks and treatment options once we receive results.

This free service is beginning now and will continue through 2020. White Water Associates (of Amasa), a fully-certified laboratory, is conducting the testing. Partners at Michigan State University will produce a 3-D digital map of groundwater arsenic for the county at the conclusion of the project.

All residents with wells are encouraged to have your water tested. If you are interested, please contact Dr. Andrew Kozich at (906) 201-0379 or andrew.kozich@kbocc.edu. Student research assistants include KBIC members: Dalene Chosa, Kristen Dean, Jackie Jossens, and Sydni Voakes.

Michigan Indian Day 2019

Michigan Indian Day was enacted in 1974 under the William Milliken Administration. Michigan Indian Day is an excellent opportunity for Michigan citizens to better understand and appreciate the vast contributions to the landscape, culture, history, politics, and economy of Michigan (Ziibiwing Center of Cultural Lifeways). The fourth Friday of September was designated as the time to celebrate Michigan Indian Day.

In 2002, the MSU School of Social Work honored Michigan Indian Day with an educational forum focused on providing services Native American families need. Topics discussed included tribal recognition, cultural differences in the workplace, creating networks. The panel engaged in a free flow of questions and answers.

Since then, the MSU School of Social Work has continued to recognize Michigan Indian Day through an annual series of presentations, discussions, and events. In the past, topics have ranged from empowering American Indian Families and Communities, to the Impact of Boarding Schools on the Lives of American Indians, to Human Trafficking in Tribal Communities, to Intergenerational Trauma.

This year, on September 27, 2019, is the 17th year for the Michigan Indian Day Event with a focus on Trauma, Culture, and Healing in Native American Tribal Communities. This event will be held at MSUFCU, 4825 Mt. Hope Rd, East Lansing, 48823, from 10:00 a.m. -3:00 p.m. The agenda will include:
